

Where in the story is this made clear to the reader?
--	--	--

“Students are required to answer each question in depth, citing passages from the text to prove the points they are making.

After completing the graphic organizer in through detail, students are required to analyze their findings in order to draw conclusions about the relationship between the two characters in an essay, referring only to data contained in the chart” (Daniel 11).